1.4.89
a Lesson in the University of The New Covenant Theodore Cottingham, February 21, 2006 7:48am. in van www.unc.bz

1. This is the beginning of the end, as you have known it. It's the end of the beginning as you have known it; the beginning of what all now is in your hand, yea now you moving, egressing into the next stage/phase/level of my hand/movement now, yea and who can see My glory in My temple, and yea yours/yours. I love you.

2. In days you will see My glory not as known before, yea coming into Me in new ways, yea and lightbank you are yea, now for many, and far and wide, afar and further, than yea imagined or thought; and who is coming into Me now to feast upon My bread, yea that you now have, and yea more you/your bread, bread and wine to others in fullness, in fullness, Ted, in fullness.

3. And that which you have thought was not-Me, you will see clearly, and no question, ask/will remain. You will know Me truly and truer, and yea My truest upon/within you; and thou wilt see My glory, and My glory from afar will shine to the far places. I love you.

4. Thank you for coming, picking up your recorder more every day.